The fact that the incidence of Alzheimer's disease diminishes as educational level increases is evidence that mental function is a use it or lose it skill.